Ratigan-Schottler

Elevating Sacred Spaces Together

Judge's Bench, Witness Stand, Court Reporter

From contemporary to traditional the highly skilled craftsmen of Ratigan-Schottler produce furniture and architectural woodwork with great skill and care. We offer complete design services or will work in conjunction with your architect or designer to produce your custom furniture.

Counsel Table

Ratigan-Schottler offers a complete line of standard modular courtroom furniture that includes judge's benches, witness stands, reporter stations, bailiff stations and jury boxes with seating as well as matching lecterns, counsel tables and courtroom dividers.

Our modular courtroom furniture is made with only the finest materials. They are available in several different styles, from simple to ornate, contemporary to traditional.

All wood used in our courtroom furniture is hand selected.

Our standard modular courtroom furniture is made from red oak wood because of its natural beauty, strength and durability. Other hardwoods can be used such as maple, cherry, birch and other select hardwoods.

Ratigan-Schottler also makes quality custom courtroom furniture to your exact specifications if our standard modular designs are not adequate for your needs or design concepts.

Lectern

Ratigan-Schottler provides an exceptional selection of beautiful solid oak bench ends. All ends are constructed out of the finest Northern grown solid Red Oak available. Any end can be modified to meet your design requirements. All ends can be used on any bench body. Because all of our ends are constructed out of solid oak, special symbols can be routed into the bench end. Decorative shaper cuts, which are cut onto the outside or inside perimeter of the bench end are available and recommended not only to provide a nice finished touch but also to protect the edge of the bench ends. We will work with you to provide the exact design you are looking for.

Ratigan-Schottler also provides a large selection of colonial bench ends in a choice of painted or stained finish. White painted ends are constructed using either solid Poplar or Birch. All ends come standard with a solid oak base and cap. We use no medium density fiberboard in our painted colonial ends. Stained colonial ends are constructed out of solid oak.

Bench End

All benches come with many standard features including solid oak end and center supports and a choice of solid oak ends. All benches with upholstery have been engineered with removable seats and backs for easy future reupholstering.

Ratigan-Schottler produces a wide range of standard solid oak bench bodies. If you're not successful in finding what you are looking for in our catalog, or have a custom design in mind, we are experts in producing custom benches from simple to complex.

Bench/"Waiting"

Court Reporter Stand

Ratigan-Schottler's designers and craftsmen have unlimited abilities to custom design and build your bench ends. We can also duplicate any existing bench end or bench body.

Finish Color: Ratigan-Schottler has a large selection of standard stain colors and will custom match to any stain color at no additional cost. Wood finish samples are provided to you for selecting a finish color. If required, Ratigan-Schottler will also provide additional samples for use by other trades.

Fabric Choices: All Ratigan-Schottler fabrics have been hand selected to follow our strict requirements for courtroom seating. Fabrics are all commercial grade and are protected with stain protectant. Hundreds of colors and weaves are available. Customer's Own Material (C.O.M.) can be used providing it meets our requirements.
